

---

AFRICA HAS CHANGED BUT HAVE OUR VIEWS CHANGED?

---

How should we teach Africa in literature programmes today? The continent has undergone profound transformations over recent decades — politically, economically, culturally — yet the texts and frameworks we bring into the classroom do not always reflect this.

We kick off the discussion with three short presentations by:

Stefan Helgesson, Stockholm University

Annette Skovsted Hansen, Aarhus University

Steen Bille Jørgensen, Aarhus University

Moderator: Mads Rosendahl Thomsen, Aarhus University

Time Friday 8 May, 14.15–15.30

Venue Room 1586-114, Kasernen, Aarhus University

An informal reception follows.

All are welcome.

Organised by the Depart of Comparative Literature and Rhetoric, School of Communication and Culture.

SCHOOL OF COMMUNICATION AND CULTURE
AARHUS UNIVERSITY